

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Disclosed is a file searching method of a data broadcasting system, the method including the steps of: confirming whether or not a control message of Download Server Initiate is updated, in response to a search request for a file object; and searching the search-requested file object from at a new root directory object, in case that the control message of Download Server Initiate is updated.